Pledged to neither Sect nor Party,
But established for the benefit of all.

FRIDAY, JULY 27, 1888.

A LITTLE NAUSEATING.

A great deal of talk has of late been heard in the Legislative Hall

and out of it, and the printing com-

missionariat has done its share, about tourist travel to these islands, and the desirability of encouraging it.

We all believe that this is a very good country for people to visit.

Our climate, our scenery, and our great volcanoes, active and extinct,

are natural enticements, which nobody can deny. We all admit that tourists benefit the country by the money which they bring to it and

leave in it, and for this reason are naturally desirous of seeing as many as possible come. But are we not in danger of harping too much on this topic, and of attaching too

much importance to it, to the neglect of more pressing home needs? So much talk about what we should do,

and what we must do, to get tourists

is becoming a little nauseating, in view of the fact that there are many things which should be done for the people domiciled in the country, but

which are neglected or only superficially looked into.

A TENDENCY TO CONFIRM.

The discussion in the House yesterday afternoon on the currency bill

had a tendency to confirm our interpretation of the "intent" of the measure. We were called to task by the "Advertiser" a few days ago for harboring the suspicion that the real object of the bill was to stop the circulation of paper issued by a local bank. Oh, no, it was nothing of the kind. Everything was being done by committees and

the Legislature on the broad principle of "measures and not men."

We accepted the correction with all simplicity and profound gratitude.

But some of the members of the House are apparently not so confiding. They expressed positive opinions in harmony with our "suspicious." Perhaps they were wrong,

but if those gentlemen are unbeliev-

ing, what can be expected from a person with an abnormal "corporo-

sity?"

With regard to the measure, probably the correct thing for the Legislature to do would be to regulate the issue of paper as currency, instead of abolishing it; that is, to require a coin basis or a sufficient guarantee of a coin backing. Paper is more convenient than coin, and

most people prefer it as long as there is an assurance of its representing coin.

THE SUGAR CORNER.

New York, July 16.—There is a corner in raw sugar. Claus Spreckels and the shortage of the West

Indian crop are both to blame.

The Philippine Island crop is 25,-

000 tons shorter this year than last.

Mr. Spreckels, it is said, has gobbled the entire West Indian crop.

One account of the circumstance of the present corner credits Spreckels

with having cleared $2,000,000 by buying up all the raw sugar in sight,

just when the Sugar Trust bought

up all the refined sugar and made contracts for much more.—[S. F.

Legislative Assembly.

49th DAY—July 26th.

The House opened at 1 p. m. President W. R. Castle in the chair. Roll called and absentees noted.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Rep. F. Brown reported from the Printing Committee that Bill No. 109 was printed and ready for distribution.

Rep. C. Brown reported from the Judiciary Committee on the petition from Messrs. T. H. Davies & Co. for a rebate of duties illegally paid, recommending that the amount claimed, $66.33, be inserted in the Appropriation Bill, for the purpose of making the rebate. Adopted.

Also from the same committee upon the bill relating to divorce, recommending that the bill pass. The report was received and laid on the table to be considered with the bill. Noble Widemann reported from the Select Committee to whom was referred the bill relating to the street railway, recommending that it be laid on the table; and that a bill prepared by the committee as a substitute pass.

The bill was then read by its title. The report of the committee was received and laid on the table to be considered with the bill.

Rep. F. Brown reported from the committee to whom was referred the bill relating to the use of explosives in taking fish, recommending that the bill pass with some few amendments which they offer.

The report was accepted and laid on the table to be considered with the bill.

The President stated that there were 34 select committees appointed by the House, and only 17 have reported. He wished to remind them that by resolution adopted by the House they must report this week.

Noble Young reported from the special committee to whom was referred the item of $8,000 for a carriage road up Punchbowl hill, recommending that the item pass as in the bill.

The report was received and laid on the table to be considered with the Appropriation Bill.

RESOLUTIONS AND BILLS.

Rep. C. Brown read a first time a bill to protect certain fish during certain seasons in Hawaiian waters. Referred to Printing Committee.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

Consideration of the bill abolishing tuition fees in the Government schools, except in certain cases.

The bill was considered section by section and passed with amendments to engrossment, to be read a third time on Monday.

ORDER OF THE DAY.

Third reading of a bill to regulate the Bureau of Public Instruction. On motion the bill was referred to the Judiciary Committee to revise the title.

Noble Smith moved to reconsider the bill to abolish tuition fees in Government schools except in certain cases. Carried.

The bill was then referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Third reading of a bill to amend the law relating to seduction. Passed.

Consideration of the bill to prevent the issuing of commercial paper as a circulating medium. Section 1 exempts foreign bills of exchange. The section passed as amended.

Minister Green moved to reconsider this section as he believed that under this law bills of exchange could be issued as circulating medium. The motion was carried.

Noble Smith said he wished the bill referred back to the committee as he considered it a very crude bill and should be carefully studied before being passed. He said a certain banking-house in this city was issuing notes without anything to back them, and he supposed this law was aimed at it, more than anything else. He believed that if bank notes were issued capital should back them, and that by law. If one house can do it others can. He understood that the object sought was to protect the community, and he should move to have the bill referred to the Judiciary Committee.

Minister Green said he did not see the necessity of referring this back to the committee. The bill was well enough as it is, except where it exempts foreign bills of exchange. He therefore moved to strike out those words.

Noble Baldwin said if Noble Smith wants a banking act passed let him bring in one, or a legal tender act. This bill only provides for the protection of the public against any loss from the issuing of illegal paper.

Noble Waterhouse said that the object of the bill was to protect the people from loss. If one party can issue paper, there is no reason why others should not do so. There is no need of any firm issuing paper as a circulating medium as there is plenty of silver and gold in the country for all the wants of the people. The silver and gold has a value whereas paper has not.

Noble Smith said the point is simply this: Here is the original bill (pointing to one in his hand). The committee have offered a substitute. The member from Koolau-poko has amended by inserting a substitute section for section 2, and the Minister of Finance now offers another amendment and it seems an incongruous mass.

Rep. Kinney said he thought there should be a clause in the bill forbidding metal issued as a circulating medium, such as the copper 12 1/2 cents pieces issued on Maui.

Noble Smith said he wished such a provision could be made, as it is very desirous for the issuers to be protected. Capt. Hobron has already redeemed over $200 more than he issued.

Noble Widemann said that plantation drafts must come under this law as it is now worded. He thought that a much simpler wording could be used and yet preserve the intention of the bill.

Noble Baldwin said that Noble Widemann had considered this bill with the committee and had approved of its wording. In regard to the copper coins in circulation among plantation people, he thought it should be considered separately, as there are many plantations who issue them in order to be able to pay their men the fractional part of a dollar that is often due them and that can be paid only in this manner. The motion to strike out the words, "foreign bills of exchange" was carried, and the section passed as amended.

Noble Waterhouse moved to amend Section 2 so as to read "to take effect from and after the 1st day of January, 1889."

The Attorney-General said that he thought that this law would defeat itself, if it did not go into effect before Jan. 1st, 1889. Now what is to prevent the House (against whom we must admit this bill is aimed), issuing a million dollars of their paper before that time. It is not illegal for them to do so, and it is not illegal for people to pass them between each other after they are issued. He therefore moved that it be made the 1st day of September, in order that they may be protected from a run on them.

Rep. C. Brown said he thought the bill should have been referred to a committee, as he thought there should be some provision made compelling the issuers of this paper to redeem it within a certain time and to make it illegal to pass it after a certain date.

Rep. Kinney said he had not got this thing quite straight, but he had got the idea. (Voice, "Hold on to it.") He said there was a lot of this paper out and nobody should be crowded. He considered that until September 1st ample time to redeem all outstanding paper.

Minister Thurston moved to refer the whole bill to the Judiciary Committee. Carried.

The President said he had a message from the Supreme Court, which, if the House did not object, would be presented then. This message was in answer to the question submitted by the House on several questions relating to licenses, answering these questions in the negative. That is, the Legislature cannot pass laws depriving one class of people of the benefits that may accrue under the laws of the country.

On motion this opinion was ordered translated and printed.

Consideration of the bill to protect passenger steamers from carrying lepers or others suffering from any contagious disease.

The House then adjourned until 1 p. m. Friday.
